TERRACED DESIGNS HIT

CHRISTIE ANDERSON

A NEW display home at The Village with its own private golf green will be launched to the public today.

The three-bedroom, two-bathroom home was built by Reef Coast Constructions and is located at 43 Holyoak Ave, Oonoonba.

The house has a practical layout that maximises functionality and space while the lounge and dining areas are open plan.

The backyard houses the golf putting green.

Project marketing manager Sarah Thompson said the home used the increasingly popular terrace design.

"The customised terrace design capitalises on a unique lot type and features high quality finishes that result in luxurious living," she said.

"Featuring a lavish kitchen and bathrooms, this home boasts a deluxe feel.

"Terrace-style living continues to gain popularity as more and more homeowners move toward a flexible and convenient lifestyle.

"This style of home design is perfect for those who are looking for stylish, trendy homes in inner-city locations with next to no maintenance required, while enjoying the benefits of high-end principles.

"Terrace-style living means you can forget about spending your weekend labouring away at home and concentrate on creating memories that will last forever."

The Village is located 3½km from the Townsville CBD and once finished the 83ha site will have more than 1000 homes.

Built by Economic Development Queensland, it's hoped the masterplanned community will be an ecologically sustainable residential community.

The Village currently has four display homes offering a range of product types to house hunters.

The new display home will be launched with free coffee, a sausage sizzle and giveaways today from 9am to 3pm.

Ms Thompson said the display home was well-equipped to cater to a variety of buyers.
